iPad and MacBook Pro users around the world might be living in perpetual amazement, thanks to a new translation software that can convert more than 100 languages into both letter and speech. Apple Inc. has released a new translating tool called SiriEspañol, which can transform texts from any language into Spanish text using voice recognition. This amazing tool has no cost for usage, suggesting that this is one of the best ways to learn this language quickly by speaking with your device. These are exciting times in the world of language-learning technology!
